Academic Excellence Recognized at Pokhara University Convocation

The Pokhara University Convocation was a momentous occasion, celebrating the achievements of thousands of graduates. Among the distinguished honorees, Ms. Neeru Gurung was awarded the Vice Chancellor's Medal by the Honorable Prime Minister of Nepal, Mr. K.P. Sharma Oli, in recognition of her outstanding academic achievement—securing a perfect 4.0 GPA in all trimesters.

Similarly, Ms. Puspa Chaudhary was honored with the Dean's List Award, acknowledging her exceptional academic performance.

The convocation was a truly remarkable event, marking the culmination of years of dedication and hard work. It served as an inspiring moment for graduates, faculty, and attendees alike, celebrating academic excellence and the bright futures ahead.

Boston Talks on Better Parenting

On February 1, 2025, Boston International College hosted an insightful Better Parenting Session, bringing together a diverse group of parents, guardians, and community members eager to enhance their parenting skills.

The session was led by Josh B. Niraula, a distinguished Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) expert, trainer, and coach. With his deep expertise and passion for fostering strong parent-child relationships, Josh guided participants through interactive discussions, practical strategies, and real-world applications designed to empower them in their parenting journey.

Throughout the event, attendees engaged in meaningful conversations and hands-on activities, gaining valuable insights into effective communication, emotional intelligence, and building stronger connections with their children. The session provided a supportive space for learning and growth, leaving participants inspired and equipped with actionable tools to nurture positive relationships within their families.

Completion of Knowledge Sharing Session on Effective Academic Writing

The BIC Research Management Cell successfully organized an insightful knowledge sharing session on effective academic writing on February 14, 2025. The session was conducted by Dr. Sudip Wagle, Assistant Professor at Birendra Multiple Campus, Tribhuvan University, who shared his expertise on academic writing techniques, enhancing participants' research and publication skills.

Faculty members actively engaged in discussions, gaining valuable insights into structuring research papers, improving clarity and coherence, and aligning with publication standards. The session provided practical guidance on manuscript preparation, citation practices, and strategies to enhance academic impact.

Implementation of Sahaoyogi Hat Pad Vending Machine at BIC Startups

Feb 4, 2025: At Boston International College (BIC), we continuously foster innovation and social impact. In line with this commitment, we BIC bought the Sahayogi Hat Sanitary Pad Vending Machine, an outstanding student-led innovation developed by BCIS 6th semester students. What began as a simple project has now evolved into a promising startup, showcasing our dedication to nurturing entrepreneurship among students.

About Innovators

This incredible initiative was developed by a talented group of students: Bikash Acharya, Pranil Gurung, Kiran Pandey, Anamol Sitaula, and Suyog Poudel. Their dedication, creativity, and technical expertise have turned an idea into a real-world solution that benefits the entire BIC community.

About Sahayogi Hat Vending Machine

Sahayogi Hat is a sanitary pad vending machine designed to provide quick and easy access to hygiene products for students and staff. This initiative addresses a crucial need in our college: ensuring menstrual hygiene is never a barrier to education.
