Education Management Information System

To ensure the successful implementation of this policy, it is essential that the education system is equipped with dependable Education Management Information (EMIS). A crucial component of the EMIS is the annual publication of a comprehensive report, and we are proud to present the inaugural EMIS report from the EMIS Unit of Boston International College.

The University Grant Commission (UGC) is striving to establish an all-encompassing and well-coordinated EMIS that spans from the UGC to the universities and their respective colleges. This system aims to be open and easily accessible to all stakeholders concerned. Boston International College is actively working on developing its EMIS, leveraging the H-EMIS system developed by the UGC. Our primary strategy revolves around the creation of a web-based, user-friendly EMIS system. We did encounter challenges during the development process, mainly due to the need for enhanced skills in utilizing the software. Nevertheless, our college has outlined plans for intensive training programs for our staff to address this limitation.

The EMIS report contains valuable information on academic programs, student demographics, faculty composition, research activities, publications, and financial data. These data points are meticulously disaggregated by key variables and subjected to comprehensive analysis, yielding crucial insights based on indicators derived from various sources. We anticipate that this report will be of immense value to researchers and all stakeholders within our academic community. We kindly request our readers to provide constructive feedback and suggestions to facilitate continuous improvement in future reports.

Executive Summary

The EMIS report for the year 2025 provides an overview of the state of higher education at Boston international College (BIC). BIC, a prominent institution for higher learning consists of a single faculty offering a diverse array of four distinct programs. Renowned as the premier management college in the Chitwan district, BIC stands out for its remarkable student enrollment figures and the comprehensive range of programs it provides. The institution boasts various faculties, departments, and units dedicated to both academic and administrative functions. BIC offers undergraduate and postgraduate programs in affiliation with Pokhara University, aligning its academic operations with the university's semester system.

Chapter 1: Introduction

Boston International College (BIC) has taken the initiative to disseminate essential statistical insights concerning education, encompassing both bachelor's and master's programs, through its annual publication in the form of the EMIS report. This report offers a comprehensive overview of higher education activities within the college, to facilitate planning, policymaking, program design, and resource allocation, particularly in the context of BIC.

In the year 2023 A.D., BIC inaugurated an Education Management System (EMIS) as part of its higher education reform project. This endeavor is geared toward providing up-to-date information about the educational landscape within the institution. The present publication marks our inaugural effort to produce such an all-encompassing report of statistical data. The primary objective of this compilation is to furnish education stakeholders with adequate, precise, timely, and trustworthy data.

The contents of this report span a wide spectrum, including details on student enrollment, graduates, the Gender Parity Index (GPI), faculty composition (teaching and non-teaching staff), academic departments and programs, research, and publication activities, as well as the financial status of the college.

1.1 Organization of the Report

There are eleven sections in the report; the first section provides an introduction to the report, the second section provides background information on the faculty/institute in the college. Section three gives faculty-wise and program-wise information on enrollment status and gender-wise distribution of the available data. Section four offers data on GPI. Section five provides information on graduates' passes from the college. Section six presents information about the distribution of graduates of the college. Section seven provides the gross enrollment ratios for bachelor's and master's degrees. Section eight presents information on the financial source and other financial aspects of the college. Information on teaching and non-teaching staff is presented in section nine. Section ten lists the student/teacher ratio (STR) in the college. Section eleven provides information on the research and publication status of the college. The main texts are followed by an annexure to the report. It includes a total of four annexes.

1.2 Methodology

This report was prepared through the direct or indirect contribution of the faculty and department, different divisions, and administrative sections within BIC. The data were collected from the administrative sections of the EMIS archive of the college. The data obtained are presented in a simple table and figure as and where necessary. Descriptive statistics were used for the analysis of data.

Chapter 2: Faculty and Department

BIC has single Faculties with four different programs. Each aims to offer an excellent teaching, learning and research environment in a wide-ranging variety of fields.

2.1 Faculty of Management

Chapter 3: Enrollment in the College

This report presents the enrollment data for various programs in our college for the year 2024. The data is categorized by program, gender (Male and Female), and provides the total enrollment for each program. Additionally, the report includes the percentage share of each program's enrollment relative to the total enrollment for the year.

The enrollment data for various academic programs highlight key trends in student distribution based on gender and program preferences. The total number of students across all programs is 268, with a gender split of 121 males and 147 females, indicating a slightly higher female representation (54.85%) compared to males (45.15%). The Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) program has the highest enrollment, comprising 108 students (40.30%), with a significant female majority. Similarly, the BBA-Finance specialization also sees higher female participation, enrolling 33 students (12.31%), reinforcing the trend of female preference for business-related programs.

In contrast, Bachelor in Computer Science and Information Technology (BCSIT), which enrolls 47 students (17.54%), has more male students, suggesting that technology-related fields attract higher male participation. A similar trend is observed in the Bachelor of Hotel Management (BHM) program, where males constitute the majority among the 37 enrolled students (13.81%).

At the postgraduate level, the Master of Business Administration (MBA) program is divided into Spring and Fall intakes. The MBA Fall intake enrolls 30 students (11.19%), while the MBA Spring intake has a smaller cohort of 13 students (4.85%), indicating that more students prefer the Fall semester for MBA admissions. Notably, the MBA Spring intake has a significantly higher female enrollment, with 10 out of 13 students being female.

Overall, the data suggest that business programs, particularly BBA and BBA-Finance, are more popular among female students, while IT and hospitality programs tend to have a higher male representation. The MBA program shows seasonal enrollment variations, with the Fall intake attracting more students. These insights can be valuable for academic institutions in tailoring their marketing and recruitment strategies based on gender preferences and program demand.

Table 2.2 reveals that the majority of students are enrolled in undergraduate programs, accounting for 225 students (83.96%). In contrast, graduate programs have a significantly smaller share, with only 43 students (16.04%).

In terms of gender distribution, undergraduate programs have a higher female representation, with 121 female students compared to 104 males. Similarly, at the graduate level, females also outnumber males, with 26 females and 17 males, showing a consistent trend of higher female enrollment across both levels of study.

Chapter 4: Gender Parity Index

The Gender Parity Index (GPI) tells us about the access of female students to higher education. It is one of the most important indicators which is used to measure the participation of girls in higher education. GPI in higher education is expressed as the ratio of the number of girls to the number of boys enrolled in higher education. A value of near one indicates equality, less than 1 displays in favor of boys, and a value larger than 1 means disparity in favor of girls.

Table 4.1: Gender Parity Index of BIC

| Year | Male Female |     | Total | GPI  |  |
|------|-------------|-----|-------|------|--|
| 2024 | 121         | 147 | 268   | 1.21 |  |

The Gender Parity Index (GPI) for BIC in 2024 is recorded at 1.21, indicating that female enrollment is higher than male enrollment. With a total of 268 students, the institution has 147 female students compared to 121 male students. A GPI greater than 1 suggests that there are more females than males in the student population, highlighting a positive trend in female participation in higher education.

This data reflects the institution's progress toward gender inclusivity, with women having greater representation in academic programs. The trend may suggest successful efforts in promoting education among female students or a general shift in enrollment patterns favoring women. Institutions can use this insight to further assess gender-based enrollment trends and ensure balanced opportunities for both male and female students across different academic disciplines.

Table 4.2: Gender Parity Index in Different Levels

| Level         | Male | Female | Total | Share |
|---------------|------|--------|-------|-------|
| Graduate      | 17   | 26     | 43    | 1.53  |
| Undergraduate | 104  | 121    | 225   | 1.16  |

Table 4.2 explains Gender Parity Index (GPI) at different academic levels highlights a higher female representation across both undergraduate and graduate programs. At the graduate level, there are 43 students in total, with 26 females and 17 males, resulting in a GPI of 1.53. This indicates that for every male student, there are 1.53 female students, showing a significantly higher female participation in postgraduate education.

Similarly, at the undergraduate level, there are 225 students in total, with 121 females and 104 males, leading to a GPI of 1.16. While the gender gap is smaller compared to the graduate level, it still shows a higher number of female students enrolled.

These figures reflect a strong trend of female dominance in higher education at BIC, particularly at the graduate level. This could indicate increased interest and accessibility of higher education for women, as well as successful institutional efforts in promoting gender inclusivity..

Table 4.3: Gender Parity Index in Program

| Program     | Male | Female | Total | Share |
|-------------|------|--------|-------|-------|
| MBA         | 17   | 26     | 43    | 1.53  |
| BBA         | 39   | 69     | 108   | 1.77  |

Average Pass Rate

The overall average pass rate for all the programs combined in 2024 is 69.73%. This is calculated as an average of all the pass percentages listed across the various programs and semesters.

Key Observations:

- 1. High Pass Rates:
  - BBA 6th and 8th Semesters show high pass percentages of 91.04% and 91.76%, respectively.
  - o MBA 6th Semester also has a relatively high pass percentage of 88.89%.

2. Low Pass Rates:

- BCIS 4th Semester has a very low pass percentage of 27.27%, which is significantly lower than other programs.
- o BCSIT 2nd Semester has a low pass percentage of 34.09%.
- BBA 4th Semester has a lower pass percentage of 60.34% compared to other semesters.

3. Trends in Improvement:

- In some programs like BBA, there's an evident improvement in the pass percentage over time, particularly in the 6th and 8th semesters, where students tend to perform better.
- o For BBA-BI, the pass percentage gradually increases, from 54.55% in the 4th semester to 90.48% in the 8th semester.

4. Significant Gaps:

- There's a noticeable disparity between programs like BBA and BCIS. The BBA program generally has better pass percentages, especially in the higher semesters.
- BCIS in the 4th semester and BCSIT in the 2nd semester show lower success rates, which could suggest challenges for students in those specific semesters.

This analysis breaks down the number of graduates by program and gender (Male and Female) over three years (2017, 2018, and 2019). The total number of graduates is given for each year, with the male (M) and female (F) graduate numbers presented separately for each program.

Total Graduates Analysis

- 2019: The total number of graduates in 2019 was 121, with 55 males and 66 females.
- 2018: The total number of graduates in 2018 was 109, with 38 males and 71 females.
- 2017: The total number of graduates in 2017 was 127, with 41 males and 86 females.

From the above, we observe a decline in total graduates from 2017 to 2018 by 18 graduates (from 127 to 109), but a slight recovery in 2019 (12 more graduates than 2018). This indicates that there may have been some challenges in 2018, possibly related to enrollment or retention, but the situation seems to have stabilized in 2019.

Program-wise Trends

- 1. BBA (Bachelor of Business Administration):
  - 2019: 75 graduates (33 males, 42 females)
  - 2018: 69 graduates (26 males, 43 females)
  - 2017: 74 graduates (23 males, 51 females)

The BBA program shows a steady graduation trend over the three years, with a slight increase in 2019 after a drop in 2018. The female graduates outnumber male graduates in all three years, with the gap widening in 2019 (42 females vs. 33 males). The consistent number of graduates, despite the slight fluctuations, suggests that the BBA program remains stable and popular, particularly among female students.

- 2. BBA-BI (Bachelor of Business Administration in Banking and Insurance):
  - 2019: 34 graduates (14 males, 20 females)
  - 2018: 31 graduates (6 males, 25 females)
  - 2017: 39 graduates (11 males, 28 females)

The BBA-BI program has shown a declining trend in the total number of graduates, with a decrease from 39 in 2017 to 31 in 2018, followed by a slight increase to 34 in 2019. Despite the overall decline, females consistently outnumber males in this program, with a significant shift in gender balance from 2017 to 2018. In 2018, there was a dramatic increase in female graduates (from 28 in 2017 to 25 in 2018), while the male graduate number dropped significantly (from 11 in 2017 to 6 in 2018). This could suggest that the program's focus or appeal may be shifting more toward female students over time.

- 3. BCIS/BCSIT (Bachelor of Computer Information Systems / Bachelor of Computer Science and Information Technology):
  - 2019: 12 graduates (8 males, 4 females)
  - 2018: 9 graduates (6 males, 3 females)
  - 2017: 14 graduates (7 males, 7 females)

The BCIS/BCSIT program consistently has the fewest graduates among the three programs. The total number of graduates decreased from 14 in 2017 to 9 in 2018, then slightly rebounded to 12 in 2019. Although the total number of graduates is small, the gender distribution in 2019 shows a male-dominated trend (8 males vs. 4 females), suggesting a stronger interest from male students in this program. This is in contrast to the BBA and BBA-BI programs, where females are the majority. The overall small number of graduates in the BCIS/BCSIT program could indicate lower enrollment or interest in these fields.

Gender Distribution and Trends

• Female Dominance in BBA and BBA-BI:

o Both BBA and BBA-BI programs show a consistent higher number of female graduates compared to male graduates across all years. This trend is especially prominent in BBA-BI, where females outnumber males by a significant margin. For example, in 2018, there were 25 female graduates and only 6 male graduates in BBA-BI. This suggests that the programs in business administration and informatics have more appeal to female students.

• Male Dominance in BCIS/BCSIT:

o In contrast, BCIS/BCSIT shows a male-dominated graduation trend, especially in 2019, where 8 males graduated compared to only 4 females. The gender disparity in this program may reflect industry trends, where STEM fields (like computer science and IT) tend to attract more male students. The equal distribution of males and females in 2017 (7 each) in BCIS/BCSIT is an interesting anomaly, which could have been due to a unique cohort.

Year-on-Year Graduate Changes

• 2017 to 2018 Decline:

The most notable shift occurred between 2017 and 2018, with a significant drop in total graduates (from 127 in 2017 to 109 in 2018). This is primarily driven by a decline in the BBA-BI program (from 39 graduates in 2017 to 31 in 2018) and a reduction in the BCIS/BCSIT program (from 14 in 2017 to 9 in 2018). The BBA program experienced a slight dip but still maintained strong graduation numbers.

• 2018 to 2019 Recovery:

There was a recovery in the number of graduates in 2019, with the total increasing to 121, up by 12 graduates from 2018. This was mainly due to a slight increase in the BBA-BI program (from 31 graduates in 2018 to 34 in 2019). The BBA program also saw a small increase from 69 to 75, which indicates that the program remained stable and in demand.

Conclusion

The data reveals several important trends in graduate numbers:

- BBA remains the most consistent and popular program, with a steady number of graduates and a female-dominated trend across all years.
- BBA-BI has seen a decline in graduate numbers, particularly in 2018, but recovered slightly in 2019. Female graduates consistently outnumber male graduates, and there was a shift in gender dynamics between 2017 and 2018, where the number of female graduates increased significantly.
- BCIS/BCSIT has the smallest number of graduates, and the trend shows a male dominance, particularly in 2019. The program's low number of graduates and fluctuations from year to year suggest that there may be less interest or more challenges in retaining students in these fields.

Overall, while the BBA program remains the most stable and popular, both BBA-BI and BCIS/BCSIT face challenges in terms of attracting and retaining students, with gender trends and program popularity shifting over the years. These insights suggest that the college may need to address factors such as program appeal, recruitment strategies, and possibly even curriculum adjustments to ensure continued student interest and success across all programs.

Table 5.3 provides data on the graduation numbers by season (Spring and Fall) for postgraduate students over three years (2017, 2018, and 2019). The numbers are broken down by male (M) and female (F) graduates, and the total number of graduates for each year and semester is presented. Here's a detailed analysis of the trends, patterns, and insights.

Total Graduates Analysis (Across All Seasons and Years)

- 2019: 48 total graduates (25 males, 23 females)
- 2018: 47 total graduates (25 males, 22 females)
- 2017: 42 total graduates (27 males, 15 females)

There has been a steady increase in total graduates over the years:

- From 42 graduates in 2017, there was a rise to 47 graduates in 2018, and then to 48 graduates in 2019.
- This represents an increase of 5 graduates from 2017 to 2018 and a slight increase of 1 graduate from 2018 to 2019. This gradual increase suggests stable growth in postgraduate graduation rates over the three years.

Spring Semester Breakdown

- 1. 2019: 28 graduates (15 males, 13 females)
- 2. 2018: 24 graduates (11 males, 13 females)
- 3. 2017: 22 graduates (13 males, 9 females)

The Spring semester shows an upward trend in graduate numbers:

- From 22 graduates in 2017, there was an increase to 24 in 2018, and then to 28 in 2019.
- The increase from 2017 to 2019 is 6 graduates, which reflects a steady rise in the number of students graduating in the Spring semester.
- Gender Distribution in Spring:
  - o In 2019, there were 15 male graduates and 13 female graduates in the Spring semester, showing a slightly higher number of males.
  - o However, in 2018, the number of female graduates (13) was the same as male graduates (11), showing gender parity in that year.
  - In 2017, males outnumbered females in the Spring semester, with 13 males compared to only 9 females.

This indicates a gradual shift toward gender balance in the Spring semester, with 2019 showing almost equal numbers of male and female graduates, while in 2017, there was a clear male dominance.

Fall Semester Breakdown

- 1. 2019: 20 graduates (10 males, 10 females)
- 2. 2018: 23 graduates (14 males, 9 females)
- 3. 2017: 20 graduates (14 males, 6 females)

The Fall semester shows some fluctuations in graduate numbers:

- 2017 and 2019 both had 20 graduates, while 2018 had a slight increase to 23 graduates.
- The Fall semester saw a decline in graduate numbers from 2018 to 2019 by 3 graduates, suggesting that fewer students completed their studies in the Fall semester in 2019 compared to the previous year.
- Gender Distribution in Fall:
  - In 2019, the gender distribution in the Fall semester is perfectly balanced with 10 male graduates and 10 female graduates.

o In 2018, there were more male graduates (14) than female graduates (9), and in 2017, the gap was even larger with 14 males and only 6 females. The balance in 2019 suggests that the college is achieving greater gender parity in the Fall semester as well.

Year-on-Year Comparison (Overall and Semester-wise)

- 2017: The total number of graduates was 42, with 27 males and 15 females. The Spring semester had 22 graduates, and the Fall semester had 20 graduates.
- 2018: The total number of graduates increased to 47, with 25 males and 22 females. The Fall semester saw an increase in graduates to 23, compared to 24 in Spring.
- 2019: The total number of graduates increased slightly to 48, with 25 males and 23 females.
   The Spring semester had 28 graduates, which was higher than the Fall semester with 20 graduates.

The data indicates that the postgraduate graduation numbers have been growing steadily, with a notable shift towards gender balance over the three years. The Spring semester has seen consistent growth in the number of graduates, while the Fall semester experienced some fluctuations, with a slight decline in 2019. The gender parity achieved in 2019 reflects broader trends in educational equity, with the college achieving a more balanced representation of male and female graduates.

Chapter 7: Student-Teacher Ratio

Student-teacher ratio (STR) measures the average number of students per teacher. It is calculated by the total number of students, divided by the total number of teachers. In this section, the STR of the college and STR of the campus of the faculty and institute are presented.

Table 7.1 Faculty-wise student-teacher ratios of different level

| Level         | No. of Students | No. of Teachers | Ratio |
|---------------|-----------------|-----------------|-------|
| Graduate      | 60              | 9               | 7     |
| Undergraduate | 678             | 35              | 19    |
| Total         | 738             | 44              |       |

1. Graduate Level

• Number of Students: 60

Number of Teachers: 9

• Student-Teacher Ratio: 7

Analysis:

At the Graduate level, the student-teacher ratio is 7:1, which is relatively low. This indicates that for every 7 students, there is 1 teacher. Such a ratio suggests that graduate classes tend to be smaller in size, which is typical of postgraduate education. Graduate-level programs often require more specialized attention from faculty, such as research guidance, mentorship, and in-depth discussions.

This low ratio implies a more personalized educational experience, where students likely have greater access to their professors for one-on-one consultations, projects, or research. Such a setup is ideal for graduate students who are expected to engage deeply with their studies and require more individualized support.

The small class size also indicates that the institution might be prioritizing quality over quantity, offering a more focused, in-depth learning experience at the graduate level.

2. Undergraduate Level

• Number of Students: 678

• Number of Teachers: 35

• Student-Teacher Ratio: 19

Analysis:

At the Undergraduate level, the student-teacher ratio is 19:1, which is much higher than the graduate level. This means that for every 19 students, there is 1 teacher. This is typical of undergraduate programs, where class sizes are usually larger due to the higher number of students enrolled in these programs.

A 19:1 ratio suggests that students may not receive as much personalized attention from faculty members compared to their graduate counterparts. In larger classes, individual student needs may not be addressed as readily, and much of the learning will likely take place in a more structured, lecture-based environment. Students at the undergraduate level might have to rely on group work, online resources, and office hours for additional support from faculty.
